REVOLT SPIRIT
CONTINUING
IN BALKANSExtent And Importance Of Movement Undetermined;
Nazis Threaten Belgrade

By UNITED PRESS

A German offensive threat to the Donets industrial basin gained momentum today but both the Red army and the Royal Air Force struck back at the Axis military machine and resistance mounted in Nazi-occupied areas of Europe.

The extent and importance of sabotage, guerrilla warfare and resistance in the Balkans and other countries still was difficult to measure but reports reaching Istanbul and London indicated an increasingly serious situation in Rumania and Bulgaria, as well as Serbia.

A threat by the Germans to bomb the former Yugoslav capital of Belgrade—wrecked by high explosives in the first blitz attack—was reported by the British exchange telegraph news agency as a result of spreading resistance, while dispatches from Istanbul said that the heavy losses in the invasion of Russia and the threat of great suffering this winter had caused grave unrest in Rumania. One report was that the pro-Nazi dictator, Gen. Ion Antonescu had been shorn of most of his power.

The outcome of these potential revolt movements as well as of Japanese activities in the far east probably will be decided by the success (Continued on Page Four)

Schools Asked To Claim ExhibitsRural Supervisor Anxious To Return Articles Used
In State Fair Display

The distribution of awards won by the county school display at the state fair to the schools whose entries claimed the ribbons is nearing completion, Mrs. Kathleen A. Dwyer, rural supervisor, reported Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Dwyer explained that while the exhibit as a unit claimed awards which belong to the county school system as a whole, entries made by pupils in various schools also claimed prizes and these are being distributed as rapidly as possible to the individual schools.

"That just about concludes the work of our state fair participation this year," she said, "except that there are at the school administration offices, several articles belonging to various schools which were used in the display."

"Teachers of the schools concerned should claim these articles at the earliest possible time, as if they are left in the school offices for an indefinite period, they are sometimes hard to find."

While Mrs. Dwyer feels a personal responsibility for the safe keeping of the articles for a reasonable time, she said that she does not feel she should be responsible for them indefinitely and expressed the hope that before the end of the present month they will all have been claimed by the teachers of the school in which they belong.

3,100 HORSES AND 140 MULES
TO BE PURCHASED BY ARMY
DURING FALL

FORT MASON, San Francisco.—Between October 1 and December 15 of this year, the Quartermaster Corps will purchase 3,100 horses and 140 mules for the Army at a total cost of $533,850.

The animals, to be purchased by the Quartermaster Corps Remount Service, which maintains stations at San Mateo, Cal., and Ft. Douglas, Salt Lake City, Utah, are being procured for the Cavalry and Field Artillery, two branches of the service which still utilize four-footed fighters.

The standard prices to be paid for animals during fiscal year 1942 are as follows: horses, light riding, $100 maximum; all other classes, $165 average; mules, $175 average.

All prospective sellers have been warned that all animals must be gentle, well-broken and in good condition physically. It is also imperative that the animal be a good mover at the walk, trot and gallop.

One of the British raiders who recently landed on the island of Spitzbergen north of Norway is shown as he blew up one of the coal mines there to prevent the fuel from falling into German hands. The concussion was so great that it knocked him off his feet. Seven hundred inhabitants were taken back to England.

Card Sale Ends

The greatest contest of the year, the student body ticket sale is over with the seniors victors by a record score. In the contest between the freshmen and sophomores, the lowly freshmen beat the sophs by a considerable margin. The senior record sales was 97.54 per cent of the class sold. This was done honestly—something not done in previous years.

Gridders Win

Scientists have often wondered what would happen when a Cougar and a Tiger got locked in personal combat. Well, we showed them when our mighty Cougars cleaned up on the Bret Harte Tigers last Saturday. The Cougars played a much better game than the score showed and they ran the ball about two-thirds of the time. The score was 6 to 7. The one touchdown was scored by Bob "Tex" Voorhies, while the conversion was made by Lawrence "Speed" Sargeant. The best kick we have seen in years. The Cougars received two costly injuries for "Dutch" Duncan and Louie Brunello will be out for about two weeks. Dutch, the wing-back, has water on the knee, while Louie, the guard, pulled some tendons in his leg. Coach L. A. Brown says the backs would have gone much farther if they had had better blocking. From all accounts it appears as though we have a first class ball club, so why don't more of you come out and give it the "extra push" it needs for victory. The next game is at Auburn Friday night at 8 o'clock. Let's see how many rooters we can get over there, for the boys do need support.

Rumors have it that the Cougars are going to have a real bang-up rally Thursday night so if you hear a lot of noise just turn over and go to sleep—everything is all right! You hope!

Senate Awakes

The Boys' Senate got off to an early start this year, for they had their first meeting in the fourth week of school. They beat the student body—for as yet no student body meeting!

I Dunno, Alaska

Capt. Art Hook gave us our first National Assemblies program in the form of a talk on Alaska, entitled "Alaska." Singular isn't it! If Mr. Flynn thought the senior dramatics class jokes were "corny," Mr. Hook's must have been a highly concentrated version.

We did learn one thing, though, how to pick a wife. Look at her teeth like the Eskimo does. After the speaker stated there was no bad teeth in an Eskimo on record, some students started the tale of the Arctic dentist who went broke. Some people have a queer sense of humor, don't they? Very corny!

FOLSOM CHANGE
IMPROBABLERe-Appointment Of Warden
Plummer, Whose Term Ends
In November, Is LikelyBy JOHN W. DUNLAP
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, (UP)—Things have been quiet along prison row lately but now that the prison board vacancies have been filled, the next item of business will be the wardenship at Folsom—whether or not to keep Clyde I. Plummer in office.

Warden Plummer's four year term expires in November and there is a pretty good chance he will be retained. He has weathered a lot of criticism, both deserved and undeserved, but has things running pretty smoothly in the big grey stone maximum-security prison for the "tough guys."

The members of the prison board appoint and fix the terms of prison wardens but usually prescribe the four year terms. After the prison riot in which Warden Clarence A. Larkin was killed, there was a great scramble for the top job, with many thinking that Guard Captain William J. Ryan should be repaid for his serious injuries with the wardenship.

Plummer was unheard of politically but received the required three votes. Ryan got a $50 per month raise in pay and the general idea was that he would become warden if Plummer was transferred to the new southern California prison as warden.

When Kenyon Scudder was named for the new Chino prison, Plummer remained at Folsom.

Since the furore of four years ago, a lot of water has gone under the bridge. Governor Olson succeeded Frank C. Merriam in 1939 and succeeded in ousting the prison board which appointed Plummer. Several vacancies occurred on the board, but it has now been filled and consists of Judge Isaac Pach, George Briggs, W. Earle Smith, T. J. McLaughlin and Henry B. Cramer.

How these five members will vote is anybody's guess. Governor Olson really has the last word, for his board will do his bidding, but he may choose to stay out of the picture, what with a re-election campaign in the offing next year.

COUNTY TAX
NOTICES
MAILEDCollector Reports Total
Of 5,970 Sent Out This Year; Gain Of About 200

County Tax collector W. F. Truscott on Monday and Tuesday of this week put into the mails a total of 5,970 county tax notices.

The notices state that the first installment of taxes is due and payable on or after November 1 and will become delinquent on December 5.

The second installment will become due and payable on January 20, and will become delinquent if unpaid on April 20th.

"As usual," the tax collector said, "we will be prepared to accept the payment of taxes in full at the time of payment of the first installment. Many of the taxpayers find it more convenient to pay their full tax bill at one time."

Mr. Truscott reported that for several years past the number of individual tax bills has increased about two hundred each year, he ordered a total of six thousand tax bill forms, and with the completion of mailing found that he had used all but thirty of the forms.

Booth Held For Gun Possession$10,000 Bail In Case Is Set By Court Over Protest
Of Defense Attorney

LOS ANGELES, (UP)—Over the protest of his attorney, scenarist Ernest G. Booth, a former convict, was held today in $10,000 bail pending trial on charges of unlawfully possessing a gun.

Booth was booked two weeks ago on suspicion of murder in connection with the clubbing to death of wealthy Mrs. Florence Stricker, wife of a druggist practitioner, Dr. George Stricker. He obtained his freedom on a writ of habeas corpus, but was re-arrested on the gun charge.

Superior Judge Byron J. Walters refused to lower Booth's bail despite his attorney's protest that he was being held in excessive bond. Judge Walters said Booth had escaped four times from custody and once attempted to escape from San Quentin prison.

Booth's arrest on a charge of unlawfully possessing a gun, two of which officers said they found in his home, was possible because of a statute forbidding ex-convicts from owning firearms.

PINO GRANDE EMPLOYEES TO BALLOT ON LABOR
ORGANIZATIONS

SACRAMENTO—A consent election among 142 employees of the Michigan-California Lumber Company at Pino Grande, near Camano in El Dorado county, will be held next Wednesday to decide whether the AFL or CIO will be the collective bargaining agent for the workers.

This was decided at a meeting in the Sacramento chamber of commerce Tuesday, called by a representative of the national labor relations board, and attended by representatives of the company and both unions.

Among those present were Don Riggs, business agent of the Sacramento Boxmakers and Lumber Handlers' union and Frank Thompson, president of the Sacramento Industrial council, CIO.

Juvenile Court Wards
Are Taken To Homes

Sheriff George M. Smith left Tuesday for Los Angeles, having in his custody Floyd Fassbinder, a ward of the juvenile court, who was to be turned over to juvenile officers in Los Angeles, his home county.

On Monday the sheriff returned George Hall to Sacramento under similar circumstances.

The sheriff was accompanied on the trip to Los Angeles by J. J. Wiley, of Camano.

Miss Frances Byrnes was home from studies at the University to spend the weekend and cut a birthday cake.

YANKS WIN AS
SERIES OPENSRed Ruffing Turns Back
Dodgers, 3 To 2 As Rally
Ends In Double Play

YANKEE STADIUM, (UP)—The American League Yankees, in Army parlance "continued the movement" this afternoon to win their tenth consecutive world series game and their first in the '41 classic, defeating Brooklyn, 3 and 2.

A record crowd jammed the stadium for the opening game which saw Red Ruffing ride out some rough times while the Dodgers used three pitchers and two catchers in various changes made necessary by Yankee threats, or to attempt to take advantage of the promise of batting rallies.

Joe Gordon hit the first home run of the series in the second inning and started at bat for the Yankees by driving in what proved to be the winning run in the sixth.

The Dodgers had two on with only one out and an excellent set-up for a rally in the ninth inning when the snappy Yankee infield stretched an infield out into a double play and the ball game was over.

(The score: R H E
Brooklyn (Nat. League) 2 6 0
New York (Am. League) 3 6 1
Batteries: Davis, Casey, Allen and Owen, Franks; Ruffing and Dickey.)

SOLONS MEET SEATTLE IN COAST LEAGUE FINALS
OPENING ON FRIDAY

By UNITED PRESS

The Seattle Rainiers, three-time winners of the Pacific Coast League pennant, face the Sacramento Solons in the final seven-game series of the Shaugnessy playoff starting Friday.

The Rainiers, trailing in their series with Hollywood two games to three, came from behind to capture a double-header last night by the identical scores of 2 to 0.

Sacramento, which eliminated San Diego in the first playoff, is to meet Seattle Friday and Saturday nights and Sunday afternoon. The next four games will be played in Sacramento.

TYPHOON HITS JAPAN;
FATALITIES MAY REACH HUNDREDS

TOKYO — (UP)—Scores if not hundreds of lives were feared lost today when a typhoon, accompanied by torrential rain, swept in from the Guam area of the Pacific and struck southwestern Japan in full force.

Dispatches said 50 bodies had been recovered, and more than 50 more were sought by rescue squads after three capacity-filled coaches of a passenger train plunged from a storm weakened bridge into a raging river in Otta Prefecture.

$350,000 FIRE SWEEPS EXHIBIT HALL AT
L. A. COUNTY FAIR

POMONA, (UP)—Fire today destroyed the agricultural building, largest at the Los Angeles county fair grounds, causing loss estimated at $350,000.

Cause of the blaze was unknown. It began in the west end of the building about 7 a. m. and swept rapidly through the 800 by 135 foot structure, which had no partitions.

The fair closed Sunday night. For the first time in its 20-year period there has been no fires during the 17-day exposition.

TOKYO EXPECTS
NEW CABINET
CRISISDeclared Pessimistic
Outlook For Improvement
Of Relations With U. S.

SHANGHAI — (UP)—Information from usually reliable sources at Tokyo gave a pessimistic picture today of attempts to relieve tension between Japan and the United States, and predicted an early cabinet crisis in which Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye must face a showdown.

These reports suggested that the crisis would come in about two weeks and that the Premier might again be forced to recognize his cabinet if he has failed to make favorable progress in exchanges with Washington.

In this connection, the following view of the Pacific crisis was given by sources which have access to reliable information:

"The recently hopeful attitude of some Japanese leaders toward rapprochement with the United States has vanished and the outlook is now pessimistic. This is attributed chiefly to indications that the United States (and Britain) has no intention of making concessions.

"Japanese army extremists have strongly resisted any so-called surrender to the United States or Britain and some have even threatened to take positive action in event any agreement is reached at the expense of the present Japanese position in the Far East."

Reliable Japanese sources said that Tokyo was continuing its efforts to negotiate with the Chiang Kai-Shek Government at Chungking and that "favorable" peace terms would be offered, provided Chungking ceases its dependence on the United States, Britain and Russia and would cooperate with Japan economically.

Chiang Kai-Shek, however, apparently has shown no interest in peace negotiations because of his outside assistance.

Japanese troop movements to the north continue, presumably indicating that Tokyo is prepared to invade Siberia when and if the German invasion of Russia makes such action advisable.

Sec. Knox Would
Police WorldNavy Chief Suggests That
U. S., Britain Join Forces
"To Stop New Aggression"

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., (UP)—Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox today proposed that the United States and Great Britain join forces "for 100 years, at least," to produce "by force if need be" an effective system of international law.

He told the 64th annual convention of the American Bar Association that to prevent another world war the seven seas must be controlled for many years to come by the great "peace-minded, justice-loving" powers—the United States and Great Britain—which are "lacking in any desire for selfish aggrandizement."

"To put it bluntly," he said "we must join our force, our powers to that of Great Britain, another great peace-loving nation, to stop new aggression, which might lead to a world disturbance, at its beginnings."

SOCIAL SECURITY PAYROLL
TAX INCREASE RUMORED
IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON — (UP)—Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., was understood today in congressional quarters to be urging immediate increase of the social security payroll tax from two to six per cent.

Morgenthau may have made the recommendation to President Roosevelt at yesterday's White House conference on social security. Mr. Roosevelt told a press conference later that he would send congress a message on the subject soon and that some increase in the payroll tax might be necessary. The move is designed to help deter inflation and absorb some of the post-war economic shock.

Peggy O'Toole whose parents died after migrating from Dublin to New York has grown up under the wing of an elderly widow, "Grandma" Burke. She meets a young taxi-driver, Jimmie Butler, who makes love to her and wins her love in return. But when she broaches the subject of marriage, he becomes evasive and says he thinks they are too young to be "tied down" just yet. When he tries to kiss her, she tells him, "I'll be friends—but not the kissing kind!" and sends him away. A short time after that, another beau, Joe Cassidy, who has just become a policeman, asks her to the Policemen's Benefit Ball.

CHAPTER XII

JIMMIE unexpectedly came to see Peggy on the evening of the Policemen's Ball. She had not seen him since she had sent him away, the night of his birthday supper. He had not appeared at night school since then, and he had not phoned her or called on her.

It was a shock to enter the living room and find him there as of old—comfortably ensconced in an easy chair, talking to Grandma Burke and the children.

"Oh!" She stopped in the doorway. "Hello, Jimmie—"

He rose. "You're going out?" he asked, his eyes taking in her evening attire.

"Joe's taking me to the policeman's ball," she explained. "He's a policeman now."

"Joe? Oh—yes—Cassidy," Jimmie took up his hat. "Well, I was just driving by and I thought I'd stop and say hello—"

The peal of the doorbell interrupted him. Peggy went to the door to admit Joe.

"Hi, Peg—ready?" Joe looked at her admiringly. "Gee, honey, you sure look swell tonight. Then he saw Jimmie. His exuberance vanished. "Oh—hello, Butler."

"Lo, Cassidy," Jimmie nodded shortly.

"Going to the dance?" Joe asked, to relieve the awkwardness. "They've got a swell orchestra—you really should miss it."

"Maybe I'll drop in later," Jimmie said carelessly. "I have to work for a while, but I'll be going off in an hour or so."

"Oh, do you have your cab here?" Joe asked. Too late, Peggy tried to stop him. "That's great—you've got two custom—"

Peggy bit her lip. She felt Jimmie looking at her, but she could not meet his gaze.

"Okay," he said.

JIMMIE did turn up at the ball later. Peggy, dancing with a stalwart young colleague of Joe's, caught sight of him in the stag line. He had not yet seen her.

She studied him covertly. In spite of herself, her heart had begun to beat a little faster. He was so handsome in his tuxedo!

say such things? I thought you said we would still be friends?" "Did I?" He gave a short laugh. He danced her into a corner and released her. He looked down at her grimly.

"Listen!" he said. "Since that last time I saw you, I've been miserable—thinking what a fool I was! I came here tonight to tell you so—to tell you how sorry I was for what I said. And what do I find? I find you flirting with half the cops in New York!"

"Isn't that what you wanted?" she taunted. "You said you didn't want me to be—tied down!"

He groaned. "Haven't I just told you I was sorry? Haven't I—"

"Peggy! I've been looking everywhere for you!" Joe's voice broke in on them.

Peggy turned to him but Jimmie seized her wrist.

"Peggy... will you let me—take you home after the dance?" "But, Jimmie, I came with Joe!"

"Oh—" He released her wrist and walked away.

"LA-DEEZ an' gentlemen!" The stentorian tones of Captain Connors were commanding the attention of the whole ballroom.

"The ball is drawn in to a close! I think you will agree with me when I say it's been a success..." There was a thunder of applause. He waited for it to subside.

"An' now, la-deez an' gentlemen—the last and main event of the evening! The Sweethearts' Waltz." There was another burst of applause. "This waltz is only for the young people—especially for the rookies at their best gals! Dance with a gal in the Sweethearts' Waltz is practically equivalent to slipping the diamond on her finger—it announces the same intentions!" There was laughter at this.

The orchestra began a haunting, dreamy waltz. Young couples took the floor rather diffidently at first but, as the older ones egged them on, with much merriment, more and more boldly stepped out to proclaim themselves sweethearts.

Joe looked down at Peggy. "We can sit this one out if you'd rather."

Peggy hesitated—then she lifted her arms.

"Why?" she said defiantly. His arm went around her. The lights were dimming. Presently, they were dancing in a pale, ethereal luminescence, as of starlight. The spell of the music was upon the dancers. Even those who merely watched seemed caught by the enchantment.

Then, at last, the strains of the waltz died away, the lights came on again—and the spell was broken.

PEGGY looked about the room. She did not see Jimmie anywhere. She decided he must have left.

She turned and smiled up at Joe. "I've had a grand time!" she said sincerely.

Just then, Captain Connors paused beside her. "Next time I'll have more than one dance with you, young lady!" he promised jovially. "Even if I have to club every man on the force!"

"Why, Captain Connors!" Peggy pretended to pout. "I had such a time getting even that one dance with you! You were dancing attendance on all the ladies tonight!"

Joe said, "I'm going to get your wrap, Peg," and slipped away.

Peggy chattered with the Captain until she felt her wrap being placed around her.

She turned to smile over her shoulder at Joe, but the smile suddenly faded.

"Jimmie!" she gasped. "Where did—"

"I'm taking you home, Peggy," he said quietly.

Why do people brush their teeth?

You might say that people brush their teeth to keep them clean—or to make them sparkle—or because their dentists told them to.

But, few people brushed their teeth until advertising told them it was important.

In more ways than most people realize, advertising has promoted health and happiness in the course of selling its wares.

And at the same time, by increasing business, it has helped make more jobs—so more people can enjoy the things it offers for sale.

LOTUS NEWS NOTES

We have been asked time and again when the post offices at Granite Hill and Pilot Hill were established and now as we have just gotten our information from the first assistant postmaster general at Washington, we will pass it along to our readers. The first office on the hill was established under the name of Cold Springs, January 21, 1852, with John M. Goetschines as postmaster. Charles W. Gilbert took office July 3, 1856; John M. Goetschines, Nov. 4, 1857; Samuel C. Dean, April 15, 1857, and Jonas Munson, June 15, 1869.

The name was changed to Granite Hill, June 11, 1874, with William P. Vernon as postmaster. He held the office until July 10, 1876 when Edward H. Evans took the office, and on January 15, 1877, Mrs. Louise Veerkamp was appointed and on October 15, 1895, Adam Kesselring, winding up with Berthold Veerkamp who served as postmaster until December 7, 1899 and on Feb. 29, 1908 the office was discontinued. Pilot Hill postoffice was established April 15, 1854, with Silas Hughes as postmaster. He served until May 15, 1855 when Alexander J. Bayley took the office until Aug. 1, 1861. William K. Creque succeeded him and held it until June 15, 1869 when he was succeeded by John S. Morton until June 9, 1870, Joseph A. Mender was appointed and held the office until March 6, 1886. Then A. J. Bayley took office again and held it until June 17, 1886 when he turned it over to Mrs. June McLagan who served until Sept. 20, 1888.

Sanford D. Diehl was appointed August 26, 1905, then George S. Malcolm took Diehl's place and he was succeeded by Alexander Brady who was appointed Jan. 25, 1921, holding the office for nine years when on March 11, 1930, Richard Nance was appointed, who is now the postmaster of Pilot Hill Post-office.

A question was asked in our last issue of The Mountain Democrat in "Around The House" with Ann Comfort, as to the Lotus Post Office. Our records show that this office was established Jan. 6, 1881 with George W. Gallagar as postmaster, 60 years ago last January. Our present postmaster now is Mrs. Lottie Galleher who was appointed November 3, 1925 serving us and the public nearly 16 years. The lady is a good postmistress and is well liked by all.

After some two months work at the Placerville Fruit Growers Association packing plant, Mrs. Alice Thayer finished her work for the season on Wednesday last.

Ballard Stahlman salesman for George Grouch and son, large coffee and spice house in Sacramento, spent Wednesday evening at the McKenney mine and on Thursday morning left for Grass Valley, Nevada City and our town.

Our town now has a new fruit and vegetable peddler, Nick Kallas who comes up from Sacramento every Wednesday. Mr. E. J. Johnson who has been coming up weakly for the past four years has failed to show up the past two months.

Among the visitors to our town the past week were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph LeVitt of the Hangtown Antique Shop, who spent Sunday evening at the Rasmussen home; Mrs. Bertha Henry of Coloma and her lady friend from Placerville; Perley Monroe, janitor at the state capitol who is spending his two weeks vacation at Coloma, fixing up his property; also Geo. O. Pontious, Coloma service station man and merchant who was here attending to some business matters.

After some ten days hunting and fishing around the Truckee hills, Alex Leonard who went up with the Lewis Brothers and others from Placerville returned to their homes last Wednesday with very little success, the boys only killing one deer. They had plenty of nice brook trout to eat while away from their homes. After Alex returned Joe Hansen went up to Onion Valley for a few days of hunting. We have not heard of any deer being killed in and around Lotus or Coloma the past week.

Loring White, state fruit and vegetable inspector, came over from Marysville where he is now stationed inspecting the dried prune crop with some sixteen other men arrived here on Sunday forenoon and spent the day at his home with his mother, Mrs. Jessie White, returning to his duties late Sunday evening. ## PIE FACES

OCTOBER is synonymous with Halloween and parties for children, both young and old. Just now ideas for parties celebrating the eeriest day of the year are uppermost in the minds of many homemakers.

Pie Faces, which are really individual mince pies with cut out faces, are grand to serve at a hobgoblin party. And whether your guests are served at the table or help themselves to a buffet lunch these little faces add a decorative gaiety as well as a toothsome note to the occasion.

The variety of faces on these little pies is limited only by the imagination. Gloomy faces, cheerful faces, scolding faces, and toothless grins are but a few of the many possible expressions. The hostess equipped with a sharp knife and an amusing imagination can reproduce the facial expressions of her guests and use these tarts as place cards. Her guests will have a gay time trooping around the table identifying themselves and their friends.

Any one of the commonly used pie fillings may be used instead of mincemeat for these midget pies. Spicy prunes are particularly good for this purpose as they are dark in color. By coloring apple sauce with simple vegetable coloring unusual decorative effects are possible.

PIE FACES

2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup shortening
3-5 tablespoons cold water (about)
2 cups mincemeat

Sift flour and salt together. Cut shortening into flour. Add water. Mix into a dry, crumbly dough. Toss on floured pastry cloth. Roll and fold until smooth. Roll about 1/4 inch thick. Cut out 8 rounds to fit individual tart pans. Line 4 pans with pastry rounds. With a sharp knife, cut faces from remaining rounds. Fill shells with mincemeat, and moisten edges of pastry. Place "faces" over mincemeat. Flute edges with thumb and forefinger. Bake in a hot oven (450°F.) 10 minutes. Reduce to moderate oven (350°F.) and bake about 20 minutes or until browned. Yield: 4 3-inch tarts.

EL DORADO NEWS NOTES

The line officers of El Dorado Chapter, O. E. S., were hostesses Friday evening at the Masonic temple for a 6:30 o'clock buck stew supper. Mrs. Clara Scheiber as chairman was assisted by Frances Truscott, Alice Wilson, Jane Cantrell and Lydia Cridge. There was a large attendance.

The chapter meeting was followed by games at which prizes were awarded for high scores. At the next meeting, on October 10, Past Worthy Patron Kenneth McCoy will furnish his radio-recorded dance music for dancing following the meeting. Pie and coffee will top off the evening.

Mrs. Vera Strickland, of Dutch Flat, formerly of El Dorado, underwent an operation for goiter at a Sacramento hospital recently. To date, all reports on her condition are favorable and we all wish her a speedy recovery.

The members of El Dorado Chapter and Hiram Lodge are extending sincere sympathy to the Jack Nelson family. Mr. Nelson passed away recently and will be sadly missed.

The ladies of El Dorado and the nearby community are invited to meet with the Red Cross workers at the Masonic hall in the dining room, upstairs each Thursday. The group usually meets at ten o'clock in the morning and continues at its work until about four o'clock in the afternoon. All co-operation is appreciated. Those who attend should equip themselves with scissors and a thimble. Luncheon is potluck.

Lewis Strickland is getting along as well as might be expected with his finger infection. The member had to be lanced a second time and is improved slowly.

Otto J. "Doc" Perschke has gone back to his first love—Studebaker. Years ago, Mr. Perschke learned his trade with the Studebaker Company at South Bend, Indiana. Then he came to California and now, after these many years, he is with Studebaker again, as a salesman for the C. S. Collins, El Dorado County dealership. Having worked for Studebaker at the factory, Otto ought to know his auto.

SHINGLE SPRINGS NEWS

There were several from here who attended Mr. Nelson's funeral on Sunday in Placerville. His many friends and brothers of the I. O. O. F. Lodge will miss him as he was a man of pleasant personality and made friends wherever he was and was often spoken of as the life of the party. We wish to extend to his family our most sincere sympathy.

Lester Barton called on Mr. and Mrs. John Miller on Wednesday.

A Soup Treat For the Guest

By BETSY NEWMAN

START your next guest dinner with onion soup. I'm giving you an easy recipe to use, also a recipe for cheese croutons to serve with it.

Today's Menu
Onion Soup with Cheese Croutons
Roast Fowl Mashed Potatoes
Creamed Turnips and Carrots
Pear Salad Honey Mousse
Sour Cream Cookies
Coffee Salted Nuts

Onion Soup with Cheese Croutons
2 tbsps. butter 1 can consommé
2 cps. onions, 1 can water
thinly sliced Cheese Croutons
Cook onions in butter until brown, add canned consommé and water and heat for 20 minutes. For the cheese croutons cut thin slices of French bread or hard rolls, and toast.

Sprinkle with grated sharp cheese, brown under broiler and serve on top of soup.

Honey Mousse
1/2 cp. pure, strained honey
2 eggs
Pinch salt
1 cp. whipping cream or evaporated milk

Heat honey in top of double boiler, pour over slightly beaten eggs, beating rapidly. Return to double-boiler and cook until mixture coats the spoon, then cool. Chill cream or milk in bowl surrounded by iced water and salt. Whip until stiff and fold in honey-egg mixture, mixing lightly but thoroughly. Turn into freezing tray of refrigerator and allow from 2 to 5 hours for freezing. Serves 6.

Sour Cream Cookies

Sift flour, measure and sift again with baking powder, soda and salt. Beat egg, add sugar gradually, beating it in well, then add sifted dry ingredients alternately with sour cream. Add vanilla. Drop from teaspoon on greased cookie sheet, sprinkle with cinnamon and sugar and press a raisin in center of each. Bake in 400° oven for 10 minutes. This amount makes 5 dozen cookies. No shortening is needed.

or failure of the current offensive against Kharkov and the Ukraine industrial centers.

Shanghai sources received reliable reports from Tokyo that the Japanese cabinet of Premier Fumimaro Konoye was facing an early crisis because of failure to make any progress in efforts to reach an agreement with the United States on Pacific problems. As a result, the Japanese army extremists were said to be threatening "positive action" and Japanese military movements continued both toward the south and northward toward Siberia, where Tokyo would be expected to strike if the Russians collapsed under the German invasion.

The German progress in the eastern area was described by London as a grave threat to the Donets basin, although dispatches from Moscow told of new gains in a 200-mile central front drive and estimated that the Germans had lost 260,000 casualties in fighting around Leningrad and Odessa.

The Royal Air Force struck with large bomber squadrons at German continental targets again today after making its 11th raid on Stettin and its 79th raid on Hamburg, where big fires were started by the heavy explosives. The Germans admitted that the night attacks were by "great numbers" of planes.
